ERNEST BOISVERT,

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT

February 1, 1922.

TO THE BOARD OF EDUCATION:

Gentlemen: Four weeks on the field as Superintendent has allowed time for only a brief survey of the condition and needs of the schools.

CONDITION OF THE SCHOOLS.

So far as I can judge at this time, I find that the schools have been well provided for and well conducted this year. The work that is being carried on by most of the teachers compares favorably with that done in some of the best city systems. It is a credit to the town of Newmarket and would be a credit to any town or city. It is true that there are weak spots in the system, but these, I believe, can be strengthened and are being strengthened. Ideals of study, industry, right living and good citizenship are being fostered in the minds of the boys and girls. Let us have a campaign of loyalty to the town of Newmarket that will spread from the schools into the homes and even into business.

EDUCATION THE TOWN'S CHIEF INTEREST.

I do not find the boys and girls of Newmarket inferior to those of other towns and cities. They are worthy of all the town can give them in the way of educational opportunities. Every citizen, whether he has children or not, should be interested in the education of the boys and girls, for in twenty years the affairs of the town will be in their hands. Too many pupils make the mistake of leaving school as soon as the law permits. There should be a general movement in Newmarket to encourage these boys and girls to continue longer in school. If they are to become workers in the mill, they will be better workers if they go far enough to be able to study a little of mill mechanics or to take a reading course for information on the textile industry. The increase in thinking power through an extra year or two in school will make them more capable workers and more intelligent citizens.

ENRICHMENT OF COURSES.

To make education worth while is the leading tendency. Useless studies are being done away with. And even in the fundamental subjects like Arithmetic and English, obsolete and impractical topics are being eliminated. Pupils and parents want knowledge and training from the schools that is of some use now and hereafter. Along this line our high school should have more pupils taking commercial subjects. Manual training which is universally accepted as a most valuable form of training both for high school and the upper grades, is only just begun in our school. In this subject there should be more pupils, more room, more equipment and longer courses.

LINES OF PROGRESS.

Some of the other lines along which we are working for improvement are renewing of black-boards and other minor repairs to some of the buildings, better equipment for primary work, more reading and more reading material for the lower grades, helps for teachers, teachers meetings for conference and instruction, and the development of a morale of industry and attention to business in every school-room. As the majority of the pupils and most of the teachers reach the High School from the South side, I hope you can persuade the town to construct a satisfactory approach from that side. It is probable that one or two additional rooms will need to be provided for next year, as four of the classes are over-crowded now and there is no relief in sight.

EVENING SCHOOL.

Seldom has the town ever done a more practical and helpful thing than it has in providing the evening school courses. Scores of earnest students, young and old, are studying English and incidentally learning our country's history and something of our government and institutions. The methods used, quite different from the old night school teaching, are the best we know to give a practical knowledge of English. For next year I believe the school should be maintained with a longer session each night and a more varied course. Arithmetic and writing might well be added to the course. The need and the value of this work should be widely circulated and supported by public opinion, so that all the men and women in the community who do not know English will take this opportunity to learn it.

PERMANENT TEACHERS.

To have good schools a town has to buy and pay for good instructional ability. Up to a certain limit a teacher is worth more to a town every year that she teaches. A good teacher knows the child and its parents, knows the home-life and the community, understands the problems of her school, and is familiar with the progress pupils had made in their studies. All this valuable knowledge, all the growth from supervision, all the development that comes from co-operating with teachers and parents is lost if you lose the teacher. By changing teachers every year, a town loses far more than it would have to pay to retain good teachers. We might as well face the fact that being so near to Massachusetts, where higher salaries are paid, is bound to make us bid more to keep good teachers. If we can give Newmarket a reputation of paying our teachers better than the towns around us, we can have our pick of the teachers and maintain better schools.

Respectfully submitted,

O. R. McCOY,
Superintendent of Schools.
